

Cambridge Mass. June 8th 1850

My dear Sir

I have been very sorry indeed to be obliged to remain so long time in Washington, & to have returned too late for having the pleasure of seeing you before your departure, I send you herewith some little notes for Paris & Neuchâtel, which hoping that they may be of some use for you & Mrs Gray.

If you remain for some time in Paris, as I hope you will, Mrs GrandPierre will be very happy to see very often Mrs Gray, and to introduce her to her many friends, if she should like it.

Be assured that you will do a favor to her to ask her for every thing in which you may desire the assistance of some body knowing well the city.

With the best wishes for your long journey & for the improvement of Mrs Gray's health, I remain, dear Sir, very truly & faithfully

your friend

Dr A. Gray.

I do not enclose the notes in envelopes to avoid increasing the pages.

Forthed Agony; also for some note for you that I enclose herewith.

All the ladies of my house, & myself, send to Mrs Gray their best wishes & compliments.
